

INEXIS

Asthma study – is a study looking at whether a medication called interferon beta-1a when added to your current asthma medication at the onset of cold/flu symptoms, will result in the prevention of severe worsening exacerbations of your asthma compared with placebo.

If you are aged >18yrs with asthma and have required 2 or more courses of oral steroids in the last year then you may be eligible for this study.