

Multicath

This studies aim is to determine whether a combination of single-use and multi-use catheters are safe and acceptable to patients and are not inferior to the single use catheter.

If you are a patient that self-catheterises and are not involved in out other catheter trial then please contact the surgery to discuss further.